Answer one question.

When relevant, answers should refer to case studies or examples, and where appropriate include well-drawn maps or diagrams.

You can make use of geographic perspectives related to both global change and global interactions.

1. (a) Analyse how countries can gain global power by joining multi-governmental organizations (MGOs). [12]
(b) "People don't have to participate in globalization if they don't want to." Discuss this statement. [16]
2. (a) Explain how microfinance organizations can help close the development gap between different places and people. [12]
(b) "More good than harm has come from the growth of global supply chains." To what extent do you agree with this statement? [16]
3. (a) Analyse how availability of natural resources has affected the global connectivity of different places. [12]
(b) "The internet has played a larger role in global cultural change than migration has." To what extent do you agree with this statement? [16]
